

WEB OBJECT WIZARD for Cloud Computing

Williamsport, PA. April 8, 2009 -

ShopVac Corporation has purchased Web Object Wizard Enterprise 6.5.05 software for use in web based application development projects. ShopVac, makers of the original WET/DRY Vacs, manufactures and design products from their Williamsport, PA world headquarters. ShopVac will use WOW and WOW Fusion Charts to develop reports, transactional applications, and dashboards over their IBM System i based BPCS and Manhattan applications.

WOW is an award-winning rapid application development tool and runtime engine that allows users the ability to easily develop web based applications that access data stored in any relational database. Unlike many competitor tools, the WOW product is platform independent and runs on top of IBM WebSphere Application Server or Apache Tomcat.

More info can be found at PlanetJ's website - <http://www.planetjavainc.com/>